(54) Title: COMMUNICATION SYSTEM AND METHODS

WO 2005/050959 A2

(57) Abstract: An apparatus and methods for creating a precise, consistent communication of technical notations is disclosed. The apparatus and methods provide a standardization for the aural communication of mathematics and scientific content that clearly communicates equations, derivatives, integrals, fractions, and other algebraic, scientific, and mathematical components. This standard of communication can be incorporated in software that is capable of utilizing numerous types of input and is capable of output utilizing a number of methods and/or devices.
